

Summary

1. Identify industry for investment.

2. Conduct value chain comparisons to identify companies with competitive advantages:

- Analyze all processes undertaken by companies in the industry.
- Compare efficiency of each company in each process.
- Recognize key sections of the value chain.
- Identify winners and understand their advantages efficiently.

3. Utilize industry knowledge to recognize key sections of the value chain.

4. Compare companies within the industry:

-Delhivery vs. TCI Express comparison:

a. Competitive advantages in different sections of the value chain (operations, firm structure, marketing, technology).

5. Refer to Michael Porter's template to list areas where each player in the industry excels.

6. Use industry parameters for further analysis:

- Key industry statistics such as operating margins, market shares, and movements in market shares.
- Indications of which companies hold a competitive advantage.