

NEW ZEALANDERS

NEW ZEALAND IS MADE UP OF TWO MAIN ISLANDS, North Island and South Island, and a scattering of smaller isles situated in the Pacific Ocean to the southeast

A LAND OF SHEEP AND SPORT

A CLEAN LAND

New Zealand has some of the most beautiful landscapes in the world, and some of the cleanest. The people do not support nuclear power. Instead they use hydroelectric power and have few industries.

CITY LIFE

Only 15 percent of the population of New Zealand live in the countryside—the rest live in towns and cities. The capital, Wellington (right), is situated on the south of the North Island. Auckland, however, is the largest city and is home to almost a third of the total population.

A LOVE OF SPORT

With over half the population belonging to sports clubs, New Zealanders are close to obsessed with playing or simply spectating—whether it is rugby union, cricket, or yacht racing. The country is also well-known for its extreme sports including bungee jumping, rafting, mountaineering, and skiing.
