

Diplodocus

dip-LOD-oh-kus

Spanning about the length of two school buses, Diplodocus was one of the longest land animals to have ever existed.

Extremely long tail

Not so gentle giants

Predators would have to think twice before attacking Diplodocus. Its huge size and whip-like tail made it very dangerous to attack.

Dippy

A cast of a diplodocus skeleton was on display for more than 100 years at the Natural History Museum in London. Its name was “Dippy”.

102

251 million years ago

200

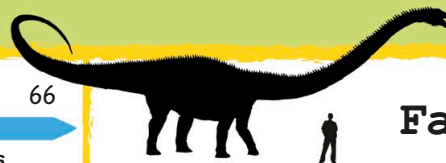

145

66

Triassic

Jurassic

Cretaceous

Fact File