

An enormous wingspan helped Quetzalcoatlus soar through the sky.

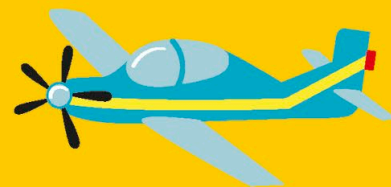

Air and land

Once Quetzalcoatlus spotted its prey from the air, it would land, fold up its wings, and quickly chase after it on the ground.

When we stood up we were as tall as giraffes.

As FAST
as a lion

The SIZE of a small plane

With a beak as LONG as a person

Quetzalcoatl

Quetzalcoatlus was named after the Aztec god Quetzalcoatl, which was a giant flying snake.

Size: 11m (36ft) wingspan

Habitat: Plains

Diet: Small dinosaurs