

Tiny surprise

Everything we know about Compsognathus comes from just two fossils – one found in Germany and the other in France. Before it was discovered scientists didn't know dinosaurs could be so small.

One of the Compsognathus fossils had lizard bones in the stomach, so we know they hunted them.

Size: 1m (3ft) long

Habitat: Scrublands

Diet: Small animals