

Spikes or sail?

The double rows of long bones sticking out of Amargasaurus's neck and back might have been spikes or a sail. They could have been used to impress other dinosaurs or even to shake and rattle to make noise.

We had the tallest spikes of any sauropod.

Size: 11m (36ft) long

Habitat: Scrublands

Diet: Plants