

During the Cretaceous, shallow seas flooded over the land.

Tyrannosaurus

Velociraptor

Spreading out

Earth's continents continued to drift apart during the Cretaceous. This caused dinosaurs to spread into every corner of the globe.

Ending on a bang

The Cretaceous ended 66 million years ago when an asteroid hit the Earth, killing much of the life on the planet.