

PLANT MENU

Leaves
Mosses
Berries
Seeds
Fruit

OMNIVORE MENU

Plants
Small mammals
Insects
Lizards
Fruit

Plant-eaters

These dinosaurs usually had blunt or flat teeth to help them strip and chew plants. They were called herbivores.

I'm so big I needed to eat LOTS of plants.

Maiasaura

We had both flat and sharp teeth, so scientists think we were probably omnivores.

Some dinosaurs were "accidental omnivores" because they would have eaten tiny insects on leaves without realizing.

Heterodontosaurus