

Deinonychus

dye-NŌN-ee-cuss

It wasn't the biggest predator, but a dinosaur whose name meant "terrible claw" was clearly not to be messed with!

We took advantage of our great speed when hunting.

Pack attack

It's possible that Deinonychus sometimes hunted as a pack. Scientists think the pack took on bigger prey by jumping on its back and attacking it with their claws and teeth.

90

251 million years ago

200

145

66

Triassic

Jurassic

Cretaceous

Fact File