

METHOD 3: CHEVRON BAND

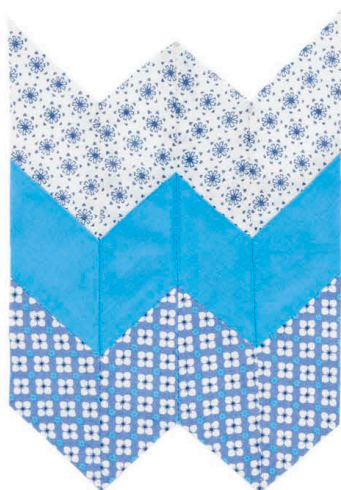

1 Cut strips the same width from three contrasting fabrics. With right sides together, sew the strips together and press the seams in the same direction. Make a second identical pieced strip.

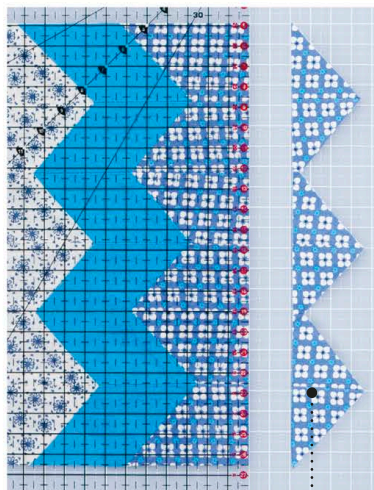

2 Using a rotary cutter and quilter's ruler, cut one of the pieced strips several times at a 45-degree angle in one direction (see p.36) to make angled strips.

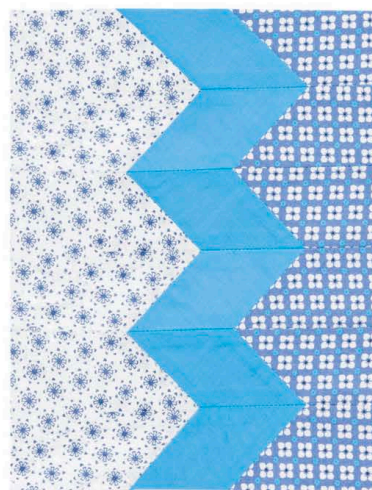

3 Repeat on the second pieced strip, using the same angle but reversing the direction of the cut.

4 Match the seams of an angled strip from the first pieced strip to the seams of an angled strip from the second pieced strip. Sew together, leaving a 6mm ($\frac{1}{4}$ in) seam allowance. Repeat to join in pairs.

5 Join the pairs to create a chevron band. Press the seams in the same direction. Using a rotary cutter and quilter's ruler, trim off the points at either edge of the pieced strip.

6 The result is a chevron pattern running through the whole of the pieced strip.
