

▶ NEEDLE-TURNED APPLIQUÉ

Needle-turned or turned-edge appliqué is the traditional method for applying shapes to a background. We've used a pencil here for clarity, but you should use a water-soluble pen or other removable method to mark your fabric.

1 Make templates for the appliqué shapes. Transfer the shapes to the right side of the appliqué fabric and cut them out, adding a scant 3–6mm ($\frac{1}{8}$ – $\frac{1}{4}$ in) seam allowance all around.

2 Wash and press the background fabric, then lay it out flat, right side up. Place the pattern on the background fabric and trace it out.

3 Place the appliqué piece in position on the background fabric and pin in place right side up.

4 With the appliqué piece pinned in place, clip into the curves, peaks, or valleys at regular intervals along the seam allowance (see p.111).

5 With the point of the needle, turn under a small section of the seam allowance and blind stitch the appliqué piece to the background, using thread to match the appliqué fabric.
