

4 Press the seams open using an iron or finger press.

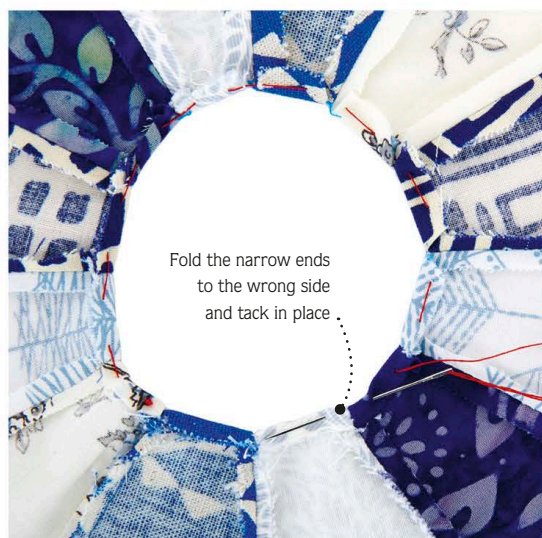

5 Turn each petal to the right side and gently push the corner out. Fold the wider end of the petal to the wrong side to form a symmetrical triangle. Press in place. Lay the petals out in the correct order again.

6 Pin two adjacent petals together, right sides together, along the long edge. Starting at the triangular end, stitch along the edge. Stop stitching 6mm ($\frac{1}{4}$ in) from the narrow end of the petals. Press the seam open.

7 Continue adding the remaining petals in the same way, pressing the seams open as you go, until you have a full circle or "plate" of joined petals.

8 Fold over 6mm ($\frac{1}{4}$ in) of the narrow ends of the petals to the wrong side of the fabric, then press and tack.
