

3.1

Data Subscription Services

To begin with, we will be entering numbers manually and conducting most of our analysis with the help of an excel. This is particularly useful for those who are not already comfortable with Financial Statements. Going ahead, you will switch to paid data sources to get past data. These services provide financial data in a standard form for last 5-15 years.

When you become a professional, you will not have time to manually enter every data. Thus, you will have to rely on various subscription services. These services can provide you with past data of 5, 7 or 10 years to analyze.

Wondering how it can help you?

It would save a lot of your time

You can analyze more companies when data is readily available

You can automate and embed this data into financial models or excel sheets you have created.

Some popular services are Capitaline and Ace Equity.