

4

Very high related-party transaction

If a company is involved in a lot of related-party transactions, it indicates bad practice. It is possible that the promoters (or others involved) are benefitting at the cost of the company. If related party transactions are high, we need to dig deeper and understand the reasons behind the same.

