

Too many restructuring write-offs

Companies often undertake restructuring activities. If the company is repeatedly undertaking large restructuring where it has to write off significant expenses, it is a red flag. It is important to understand why the company is restructuring again and again.

9