

Keep Working On The Business - Fundraise Is An Ongoing Activity

You must keep working on the business as fundraising is an ongoing activity, and core business must never be paused to raise capital. Business should be going on in parallel to raising capital. It is very easy to lose focus on the business while raising capital, particular in the initial days. You must not stop making progress on the business.

Plan To Sustain Till Fundraise

You need to plan on how to sustain till you receive the external capital. Also this can take few months to more than a year. You must have plans such that you can sustain till fundraise.

This is a tricky situation that founder has to face. A balance is required between growth and sustaining the business. The focus should be on getting as much traction as possible.
