

If your business proposition is working well, professional VCs can help you build an organization around it. Formal Organization and processes help you build a sustainable and scalable business, going ahead. VCs can guide you to navigate this phase and get you connected to the right people to help you. The idea remains that they will invest only after a sizeable traction, and they will invest for growth and would want rapid growth for your business post raising capital.

They will depend on business metrics to make their investments. Once the business has scaled further and risks have reduced, larger private equity investors start getting interested.

PRIVATE EQUITY

Private equity investments are for larger and stable businesses. PE Investments are offered to large and stable companies with lower risk. Very few companies reach this stage. You will have access to enough expertise if your business sides to this level.

F

ks