

Here are few things that you should keep in mind when connecting with investors:

You must keep these things in mind before reaching out to investors. This does not help your business fundamentally, but make you look more professional in front of investors.

You also need to ensure that drafting of the reach out message is correct. You can expect the first few messages to not work but with iterations, you should be able to fix the same.

F

ks