

5. SOLUTION

Next, you have to explain your differentiated solution for the problem. You must answer why your target audience will buy from you. Why are you better than others?

Let us say that you are selling electric vehicles. So if five other companies are selling the same product, what unique solution do you have that makes you stand out? What unique solution do you have that other companies do not have already?

You will have to explain how your solution works and why/ how is it better than other players in the market?

6. HOW DOES IT WORK?

You need to explain how does your product work? What process it follows? What are the inputs required? Who are the people involved? why does each person do what they do? And so on.
