

In the introduction chapter, we discussed what to expect, how we have put together the entire book and the process. In the second part of the introduction, we discussed the whole journey of Zebra Learn.

Also, there are numerous businesses, and each business has a unique history. There are businesses that received their first cheque even before they actively started raising funds. Many founders have notable accomplishments in the past. These people didn't have a ready business or a finished business plan, but they could still show up and receive their first cheque. For most other business owners who are starting out, this will not be the case and they will have to raise capital on merit of current stage of business and not merit of their past.
