

5. ALWAYS START WITH A BLANK EXCEL SHEET

Do not use someone else's financial projections here. Every startup is different, and they use different KPIs. So when you start from scratch, you get to enter all the important items as per your business. You can include the KPIs you are consider relevant and the items you to track. It should not be a borrowed model that reflects someone else's business thinking. Starting from scratch allows you to reflect on your business the way you think about it. This does not mean you cannot refer other projections to understand better, but when creating one start from scratch.
