

02 CONNECTS & INTRODUCTION

Connects and introductions do not only include the other investors. It includes:

Hiring your top employees

Currently, you only need a few people here and there, or you have to make the core team all by yourself. However, going ahead when hiring senior team, referrals by investors and connects through their portfolio companies can be really helpful in identifying and attracting top talent.

B2B Introduction

Let us assume that you are a B2B business. The investors can help with B2B introductions, and they help with distribution.

For instance, if you run an electronics business, Croma (Tata's chain of online stores) is a place where you can sell your goods. Now, it might take you a while if you go to Croma to sell your goods. In this case, the investors can help you, and you can reach people very quickly.

Now Croma agrees to sell your products or not is a different story but you were able to reach the right people quickly. If they come with a strong background, they can also help negotiate business deals as well at times.

Simply speaking, investors can help you with a lot of connections and introductions which will not only provide the necessary capital but can also help you on the business side.
