

PAPERWORK

The first thing that needs to be prepared within the paperwork is the SHA or the Shareholder's Agreement. This is an agreement between you as a founder and all the investors. This will be the written document of all the clauses and agreements between you and the investors. It will define rights and responsibilities of both the parties.

This will include things like how the ESOP pool is set aside, lock-in period etc.

It also includes clauses to share monthly data and other numbers with the investors, board rights, etc.

The rights and responsibilities are mentioned here in the document itself.
