

9.2 WHAT IF IT IS YES - 2

So far, we understood the different structures that can be used for the deal, the paperwork required, and the due diligence. When everything goes through, i.e. the paperwork and the due diligence, and there are no questions or red flags, the next step is the transfer of money.

Thus the steps involved are:

Application form has to be shared with bank account detail and a date window (say 7 or 10-day window) in which all funds have to be transferred.

The investor will transfer the money to the said bank account within the time mentioned, along with filled application form. You will need a new bank
