

Else you have to show them proof that you have worked previously with a company that used to create EV batteries, so you know the entire process.

So whatever you are doing, investors need to be convinced that it is working. Sales is most concrete form of traction that a business can demonstrate.

F

ks