

6. ENGAGED USERS

Engaged users means how much the user are into the product and how big a part of their life is the product.

The idea is that even mediocre products can attract lot of time users but only good products can attract engaged users. This can be tracked using KPIs.

Let us as-sume that 1000 unique people are visiting your website every month. Now you can demonstrate that approximately 800 of them are visiting every day. This means 80% of your monthly active users are also daily active users. This is exceptionally high user engagement. Such businesses should be able to attract capital as this is very high traction.

So if you can show a small number of engaged audiences and then show a way to increase the number of users, it will be counted as meaningful traction.
