SMALL TEAM

ZEBRA LEARN

Generally, at this stage you will have a small team, or you might be working alone, or maybe you will have an intern who will be charging a very small amount, or even work for free. You will have your co-founders, if you have any to help you with this as they are equally invested. They will work with you when no one is there to work with you or is ready to offer you capital, and you cannot hire people.

However, if you have your own capital, you can always build a team and take that risk if you find early success. As you will be working with a very small team, you will also have a limited skill set to help you at this stage of your business.
