

Let's Begin

This book has been developed over 4 years of research and trial and error. This book is for anyone who wishes to own, start or analyze a business.

The basic premise of this book is 'model-based thinking, which can be universally applied to any kind of business, in any industry or economy. The book has been designed using models that help understand critical areas and break down businesses, both qualitatively and quantitatively. The goal is to identify industries that are more attractive than others.

This book mainly focuses on

- Understanding the attractiveness of any given industry.
- Industry level value proposition, followed by broad industry analysis.
- Trends and practices in the industry, the evolution of the industry, and industry-related risks and growth potential are then discussed to know more about the industry.
- Facilitating decision-making regarding attractive industries or what we call 'rich ponds' (potential fishing grounds) to find or start businesses with above-average profitability.
