

However, one must pay attention to the following fact.

The investment needs of businesses may not be linear; they may be rather lumpy.

Free cash flow should always be seen over a few years and not for any particular year.