

- Q Is the history of the industry similar in other markets and geographies?
- Q How has the government's attitude been towards the industry?
- Q What has been the biggest challenge for the industry over the years?
- Q How has the industry tried to solve them?

These questions together form the basis for reading and understanding the history and evolution of an industry and the firms in it.

Entrepreneurs often fall into the trap of ignoring this stage and they end up repeating the mistakes that were made earlier.

Had these firms focussed on innovation from the beginning, they might have had different levels of success. Try and understand the reasons behind why things are a certain way - understanding in history and evolution.
