

Youtube, Tiktok

video Tapes

Many successful businesses were started by entrepreneurs who could spot trends before anyone else. They were able to capitalize on their insights in a new and creative way.

Thus, efforts to identify new changes affecting the industry and the direction in which the industry is moving can not only save firms from losses but also help them stay better prepared when the time for change comes. Efforts and resources should be allocated to such trendspotting.