

Sample Questionnaire for Agrochemical Retailers

- Q How does the customer buy the product? What are the variables they consider while buying?
- Q What are the benefits and the major costs that the buyer perceives while buying agrochemicals?
- Q How are the buyers educated or trained? How do they receive information about the products?
- Q Do the customers buy mainly branded products or from unorganised players? Why?
- Q Is there any community pressure while making a purchase decision?
- Q Are the buyers confident about the use of agrochemicals? How much certainty do they have about the outcome after use?
- Q Is the required agrochemical adequately available?
- Q What are the payment terms for purchase by customers? Do they pay on time?

These, along with other creative methods, can be used to collect data to draft the customer profile. Insights related to customer psychology should also be incorporated in the customer profile.

