

Sharp claims that the air filters will last for up to 2 years. The purifier has indicator lights for filter replacement (FZ-J80HFE, FZ-J80DFE) and Plasma-cluster unit replacement (IZ-C90ME). The replacement costs can add up to a substantial amount which is something to keep in mind while making your purchase decision.

VERDICT

The Sharp FX-J80M-H air purifier proved pretty effective at purifying the air in our room. It efficiently delivers clean and breathable air, staying true to its primary promise. Sharp uses quality filters and the design is simple yet functional, complemented by a decent range of features. However, setting up

Wi-Fi connectivity and the companion app was not a seamless experience, and the lack of a remote control might be inconvenient for some users. Despite these drawbacks, at an asking price of nearly ₹30,000, it remains a solid recommendation for anyone seeking an effective air purifier capable of handling severe pollution conditions.
