Boult's new Mustang-inspired TWS and headphones launched Homegrown audio brand Boult just launched its newest set of audio products. Three new audio devices have been launched by Boult and the USP of these devices is that they are a part of the company's Boult x Mustang collection. When the collection was first launched last year, it was pretty well received. This time, the company has launched three new products in the collection—two TWS earbuds and a headphone set. All of these devices are design-focused and have been inspired by the design language of the iconic Ford Mustang. <https://tinyurl.com/4nwc24rw>
