

Democratic candidate James Buchanan's 19. The 1856 election was seen by them as a "victorious defeat."

 1,342,345 The number of popular votes for the Republican candidate John C. Frémont in the presidential election of 1856: 33.1 percent of the votes cast.