

A celebration of emancipation

In this Thomas Nast print of 1865, Black Americans are shown in the center enjoying a comfortable home life. On the left are scenes of their former slavery; the right shows a future with equality in the workplace and education for all.