

Carolina paper, the Wilmington Daily Herald, claimed this proved that “slaves love, honor, and obey their masters.” Those who wanted an independent Southern government maintained that only independence could stop future attacks.