

1869

FEBRUARY

Congress proposes a Fifteenth Amendment to guarantee the right of all citizens to vote, regardless of "race, color, or previous condition of servitude." At this date only a minority of states, North or South, allow Black people to vote.

MARCH

Ulysses S. Grant is inaugurated as president. He will be a rather passive president and, though personally honest, will be badly let down by the corruption of many of his appointees.

MAY

North America's first transcontinental railroad is completed in a ceremony held at Promontory Point, Utah.

OCTOBER

Democrats regain control of the state legislatures in Virginia and Tennessee, largely halting the Reconstruction process in these states.

DECEMBER

Women are granted the right to vote in the Wyoming Territory, the first area of the United States to make this change.
