

Mosby's crutches

Confederate Commander John S. Mosby found the war brutal, as his repeated need for crutches attested: "They were first used in August 1863 ... I again used them in September 1864 and December 1864."