

troops led by Colonel E. R. S. Canby at Valverde Crossing—the largest Civil War battle in the Southwest.

<https://www.blm.gov/visit/fort-craig-historic-site>

Pecos National Historical Park

On March 26–28, 1862, the Battle of Glorieta Pass, known as “the Gettysburg of the West,” was fought here.

<http://www.nps.gov/peco>

NEW YORK

General Grant National Memorial

Overlooking the Hudson River is the final resting place of Ulysses S. Grant and his wife. It is the largest tomb in North America. The site, generally known as Grant’s Tomb, also serves as a memorial to Grant’s life and accomplishments.

<http://www.nps.gov/gegr>

NORTH CAROLINA

Confederate States Military Prison Site and Salisbury National Cemetery

A 16-acre (6.5ha) prison compound with wooden stockades and a nearby burial site. After prisoner exchanges stopped in August of 1864, the facility swelled, housing over 10,000 troops and necessitating a mass grave system which included 18 trenches spanning 240ft (73m) each. Union general George Stoneman set fire to the prison in April, 1865.

<http://www.salisburyprison.org>

OHIO

Johnson’s Island Prisoner of War Depot

Built in 1861–62, this depot housed over 9,000 prisoners in a 40-month period.

<http://www.johnsonsisland.org>

Sherman House Museum