

John Brown on the way to the scaffold

In the hope of acquiring arms for a slave uprising, abolitionist John Brown raids the Federal arsenal at Harpers Ferry in 1859. The raid is a failure, but Brown is tried and executed. His death divides North and South even further.