

APRIL

APRIL 10

Brigadier General P. G. T. Beauregard ordered to force Fort Sumter to surrender. It falls four days later.

Bombardment of Fort Sumter

Brigadier General P. G. T. Beauregard's epaulets

APRIL 15

President Lincoln calls for 75,000 volunteers to suppress the Southern "insurrection."

APRIL 17

Virginia's state convention secedes, with final decision to be made by its people in May. It effectively joins the Confederacy.

APRIL 19

President Lincoln proclaims the South is now under blockade.

APRIL 19

Pro-Rebel Marylanders clash with Union troops in Baltimore, resulting in first fatalities of war.