

The Union navy belittled

Two Union vessels—essentially washtubs—try to block a Confederate steamer's path in this cartoon, mocking the government's attempt to update the Union fleet.

Impact on exports

A Union man-of-war (far right) pursues a Confederate blockade-runner (right). Built for speed, the blockade-runners could outsail the larger Union ships, but their small holds limited their carrying capacity and Southern cotton exports fell markedly.
