

Sewing kit

Soldiers carried a mending kit known as a "housewife," which included needles, thread, and buttons. Men who were used to being looked after by womenfolk had to learn essential skills, such as sewing and cooking, when they entered the army.