

The Battle of Hampton Roads

In March 1862, USS Monitor and CSS Virginia fought the world's first battle between steam-powered, ironclad warships. Their encounter was a stalemate that left the naval balance of power in the Civil War unchanged, but it marked an epoch-making advance in the technology of naval warfare.