

which Forrest was seriously wounded. This skirmish marked the end of the fighting.

Infantry clash

Confederate troops encounter fire from a close-packed Union infantry line during the Battle of Shiloh. In the absence of prepared defenses, the only cover was provided by trees and other natural features.