

Permanently scarred

However badly they were treated when they came North, nothing could compare with the brutality people had suffered at the hands of their enslavers. This man, named Gordon, was photographed after escaping to the North and joining the 2nd Louisiana Guards.