

Enslaved woman in the South

In this 1866 painting by Winslow Homer entitled Near Andersonville or Captured Liberators, a Black woman looks on as captured Union troops, her potential liberators, are marched off to Andersonville Prison.