

aged and poverty-stricken Black people. The Harriet Tubman Home for the Aged opened on June 23, 1908, and it was there that Tubman died, as a resident, nearly five years later.