

Thomas's military headquarters

This small cabin on Snodgrass Hill served as Thomas's headquarters during the final phases of the Battle of Chickamauga, in which the general and his men resolutely repulsed repeated Confederate assaults.